Alternative Planning

A way of developing businesses, communities and centers through visualisation, physical intervention and the channeling of intelligence from the universal body of consciousness.

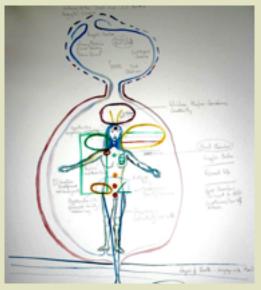

Successful projects have included a new vision for Letchworth Garden City, a security system for a South London Gallery and autoreadings for 45 beauticians, helping them become aware of 'inner beauty'.

Alternative Planning is a fun way of bringing fresh perspectives and ideas into the environment and work place. It is helpful to motivate a team, bring inspiration, and help create working dynamics amongst staff. If there is a block on the flow of a project or in staff relations. A.P. is a way of dealing with the situation safety and effectively, encouraging a more productive environment. Alternative Planning car be used for projects, training and for the well being of staff.

Whilst acting as a channel working with 'Creation' Amanda works with visions, energy psychology, energy communications to increase productivity. These expanded states of awareness facilitate heightened skill sets, so in relation we work together to connect with product and persons activating development to bring your product or service to the forefront of the industry. Amanda channels intelligence, opens up performance levels, develops all types of products and I.P. and works with expanded consciousness, actualising and manifesting the information and development of business, product and communications. Amanda works with visuals, strategies, communications, company dynamics, creating story boards, characters, objects and embraces style.

Remote Viewing is used to find out whats going on in individual performance. Popular with human resources and investment deals, checks in with the motivations of people, their strengths weaknesses and limits, a powerful way to see direction in teams and business infrastructures, if someone is acting on intention, insecure or if there are any hidden agendas. Remote viewing helps to create positive pathways forward.

Raising Consciousness using Design Speaking to consumer, making sure the communications are 'speaking' and 'calling' clients or consumers.

Integrity of the company Aligning intentions with a strong sense of value throughout infrastructure, to create a stable, secure and dependable business infrastructure with consistent client/consumer relationships.

Responsibility and Respect in Creation Looking at impact of company on world, this area of consciousness, helps to define strong sense of working purpose amongst infrastructure and a respect in product globally.

Automatic Writing

Useful for writers and 'out of the box' freethinkers to help them come further in to their power, also unearths branding and communications, from an subconscious but essential directive.

Sound Vibrations

How does the names of products and company vibrate, this creates a tone in the world, that resonates with people, the ideal is to bring harmony and rhythm as this is attractive to people.

The Role of Visualisation and Vision Sometimes words are two linear to enable a clear objective that works for the benevolence of the company. By using 'vision' we can work with universal consciousness and collective thinking to encourage a vision that many people can reference and work towards as an objective. Amanda catalyses visions in clients to enable objectives and pathways, with strategies and phases clearly defined.

Kinesiology with staff dynamics Assessing intentions to create priority lists and make sure time management is addressed effectively using kinesiology, a skill used in finding 'true' agenda's that serve the company and creative ambitions efficiently.

Amanda teaches people to be the 'Creator' in manifestation and vision. This way of operation suits people with an asserted connection to philosophy in business and an interest in benevolence in operation.
